Victory Programs' ReVision Urban Farm

Farm Share/Community Supported Agriculture

Victory Programs is committed to providing high quality, nutrition dense, flavor rich heirloom vegetables to all, regardless of one's ability to pay. The Farm Share/Community Supported Agriculture Project (CSA) is one of our outlets for distributing fresh, locally grown, organic produce to individuals living throughout the greater Boston area. Contributions to our CSA Fund help subsidize shares for low-income families living in the Franklin Field community and the surrounding Dorchester and Mattapan communities. Please see the next page of this brochure for more information about the Victory Programs' ReVision Urban Farm CSA Fund.

An Introduction

Victory Programs' ReVision Urban Farm grew out of our ReVision Family Home, a shelter for 22 homeless families located in the Dorchester neighborhood of Boston. ReVision Family Home was founded in 1989 as a shelter for homeless, pregnant and parenting mothers and their children. The farm began when the women of ReVision Family Home planted a small garden to provide healthy food for themselves and their fellow shelter residents. In 2005, ReVision merged with Victory Programs, a Boston-based organization that opens doors to hope, health, and housing through services for individuals and families. With the addition of four vacant lots and the construction of a greenhouse, the farm has grown into a vital, sustainable growing space. The farm saw further expansion during the summer of 2012, when we began farming a lot on nearby Tucker Street thanks to the City of Boston's Urban Agriculture Pilot Initiative. We host hundreds of volunteers each year and provide job skills to homeless parents and young people. Our farm in Dorchester and our partner farms provide healthy organic produce for the 22 families living in ReVision Family Home and for the greater community through our CSA, farmers markets, and farm stand on Blue Hill Ave.

What Is a CSA?

CSA stands for Community Supported Agriculture. The CSA operates by selling shares of our farm's harvest to families and individuals that commit to supporting us for the full length of the growing season. You, the CSA member, pay in advance for a season's worth of fresh, sustainably grown produce. We, the farmers, have a secure market before the season begins and can therefore focus on growing healthy crops. In other words, you buy a little piece of the farm for the growing season, and in return receive a weekly share of fresh, local, organic produce!

Produce Pick Up

Choose a pick-up site in Dorchester (Wednesday) or Roslindale (Saturday). Pick-up of produce is on a weekly basis from June 5 through October 12. Please call or email in advance if you ever cannot pick up your share.

CSA Cost

Shares cost $550.00. This breaks down to about $30 per week for fresh, local produce from your community!

Franklin Field / Community Shares are reserved for people of low income living in Dorchester and Mattapan. The price per share is $200, and includes the same amount of produce as a regular share. This breaks down to about $11/week for fresh, local produce from your community!

What's In Your Share

You'll receive one box of produce per week for 18 weeks. Members are expected to commit for the entire season. Each week's share may contain as many as ten different vegetables and herbs. The "Harvest Guide" on the back of this brochure describes when you may expect certain items. You are likely to receive between 1/2 and 1 bushel of produce each week. Amounts fluctuate throughout the growing season, reflecting the changing abundance of the harvest.

The CSA Fund

Victory Programs' ReVision Urban Farm subsidizes CSA shares for low-income families living in the Franklin Field community and the surrounding Dorchester and Mattapan communities. Your additional contribution to the CSA Fund will directly improve access to healthy, organic, local produce for the families of Dorchester and Mattapan. Please consider making a contribution to the CSA Fund when you complete your order form to help us keep our CSA program accessible to all who wish to join!
